EF-58-H-R02-0520-32000180-1 BOE-58-H REV 02 (05/20)

AFFIDAVIT OF COTENANT RESIDENCY

Cynthia L. Froggatt Plumas County Assessor

1 Crescent Street Quincy, CA 95971 Phone: 530-283-6380 Fax: (530) 283-6195

DATE

TELEPHONE NUMBER

CindieFroggatt@countyofplumas.com

62.3, if cortain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor van the realy terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE  Property was eligible for: Homeowners' Exemption Disabled Veterans' Exemption  Disposition of real property:  Affidavit of death of joint tenant  Decree of distribution pursuant to will or intestate succession  Action of trustee pursuant to terms of trust (Altach a complete copy of trust and all amendments).	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  d Veterans' Exemption  y of trust and all amendments)  or the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death?   Yes  N
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property, in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant working 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficially taffirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE  Property was eligible for:   Homeowners' Exemption   Disabled Veterans' Exemption  Disposition of real property:   Affidavit of death of joint tenant   Decree of distribution pursuant to will or intestate succession   Action of trustee pursuant to terms of trust (Altach a complete copy of trust and all amendments).	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are riset:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  DISposition of real property:  Affidavit of death of joint tenant  Disposition of real property:  Action of trustee pursuant to will or intestate succession	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  d Veterans' Exemption  y of trust and all amendments)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property, in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant award to the eath of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficially affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE  Property was eligible for:   Homeowners' Exemption   Disabled Veterans' Exemption  Disposition of real property:   Affidavit of death of joint tenant   Decree of distribution pursuant to will or intestate succession	62.3, if cartial conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant between the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant between the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  Disposition of real property:  Affidavit of death of joint tenant  Disposition of real property:  Affidavit of death of joint tenant  Decree of distribution pursuant to will or intestate succession	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  d Veterans' Exemption
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficial affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE  Property was eligible for:   Homeowners' Exemption   Disabled Veterans' Exemption   Disposition of real property:   Affidavit of death of joint tenant	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 1.00 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant sortinuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, indere penalty of perjury, an afficial affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant. Both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant. Both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficially affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	62.3, if cartain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury an afficial affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if cortain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants were owners of record.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficiavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)  CITY, STATE, ZIP CODE	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury an affidavt affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants were owners of record.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficiavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an afficiavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  STREET ADDRESS OF REAL PROPERTY  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)	ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant were owners of record.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor otenant.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant. Both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant. So the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant were owners of record.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor otenant.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property, between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant. Both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant. So the cotenants continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the death of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH  ASSESSOR'S PARCEL NUMBER (APN)
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants were owners of record.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT  NAME OF DECEASED COTENANT  DATE OF DEATH
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.	DATE OF DEATH
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.  NAME OF SURVIVING COTENANT	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenants interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the deceased cotenant for the one-year period immediately preceding the date of death.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property. The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property. The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenants continuously resided in the real property.  The surviving cotenant must sign, under penalty of perjury, an affidavit affirming that they continuously resided in the real property with the	date of death.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.  The real property was the principal residence of both cotenants immediately preceding the transferor cotenant's death.	t affi rmin g that they co nti nu ously reside d i n the real prop ert y with the
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.  For the one-year period immediately preceding the death of the transferor cotenant, both of the cotenants were owners of record.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.  As a result of the death of the transferor cotenant, the deceased cotenant's interest in the real property is transferred to the surviving cotenant, resulting in the surviving cotenant owning 100 percent of the real property, and thereby terminating the cotenancy.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:  • The transfer is solely by and between two individuals who together own 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant applies as long as all of the following are met:
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.  The change in ownership exclusion for a transfer of an interest in real property between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant	yn 100 percent of the real property in joint tenancy or tenancy in common.
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.	erty between cotenants that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other cotenant that takes effect upon the death of one cotenant is not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.	_
62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other	62.3, if certain conditions are met, a transfer of a cotenancy interest in real property from one cotenant to the other	not a change in ownership. This applies to transfers that occur on or after January 1, 2013.
· ·	·	interest in real property from one cotenant to the other
Under the provisions of Revenue and Taxation Code section		•
г	NAME AND MAILING ADDRESS (Make necessary corrections to the printed name and mailing address)

THIS DOCUMENT IS SUBJECT TO PUBLIC INSPECTION

this real property for the one-year period immediately preceding the decedent's date of death.

SIGNATURE OF SURVIVING COTENANT

EMAIL ADDRESS